POLITICS WARMING UP IN THE WEBER CAPITAL

That There Will Be a Hot Contest for Offices Is Assured.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Aug. 27.—"Bill" Glasman's strongest political friends in Ogden are becoming a little bit worried at "Bill's" apparent inactivity in the approaching municipal campaign, and unless Glasman, who has been flirting with some time with the majority, comes out in the open and gives his supporters some inkling regarding his designs upon this office, his supporters are going to turn him down. "Bill" would also like to go to congress. If he could read his political horoscope and see therein a term as mayor of Ogden City well spent to the satisfaction of the people, which would be a stepping stone to the office higher up, he would announce to his supporters that he was seeking the nomination for the mayoralty. Glasman, however, does not want the congressional job of his chance, but is so much engaged in his political pastime of feeling the public pulse.

While in this state of uncertainty, other leading Republicans with which he has been recently mentioned in connection with the nomination, are Dan W. Ellis, an abstractor, and J. S. Carver, a retail merchant. Both are strong Republicans and are in a hurry, the probability is that one of these men will be the Republican nominee to oppose the present mayor, A. L. Brewer, who will doubtless receive the nomination for another term from the Democrats.

The contest for Republican nomination for city recorder is getting more interesting every day, although the contest is several months distant. The best candidate to enter the field is Earl Wilson, office deputy to Sheriff Barlow Wilson. After the death of Recorder A. P. Brown, his chief deputy, Mrs. M. P. Poulter, was appointed to fill the unexpired term. She is a Republican and is a strong contender for the office, but the fight will probably be between Wilson and W. D. Van Dyke, a returned Mormon missionary. Both of the latter are strong church Republicans, but Van Dyke has the advantage over his opponent, because of his experience in public office and his wide acquaintance with members of his party. Should Wilson receive the nomination, it is probable that Van Dyke will get the nomination for city clerk, and the nomination for city auditor, probably that of auditor. Should a Republican be elected to the office, it is highly probable that Mrs. Poulter will be retained as chief deputy.

For municipal judge it looks like Judge J. D. Murphy will have no opposition, and the same condition will likely be true in the office of the city attorney, which is filled by James Dwyer. Democratic members of the city council and ward leaders have expressed a hope that both will be re-elected.

There are many candidates for nomination already in the field for councilman offices. The late action of the city council in electing George B. Squires, who has been attending the convention of insurance commissioners at Denver, states that the council is feeling much better than for a long time and that he has had a profitable and pleasant trip. He will reach home Sunday night.

THIRTEEN PICKED MEN WILL ACCOMPANY TAFT

Special to The Tribune.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Aug. 28.—Thirteen picked men, consisting of the sheriffs of the odd dozen counties of western Colorado, will accompany President Taft on his visit to the Grand Junction tunnel at Montrose, Colo., the middle of next month. The unique idea was conceived by Sheriff McKnight of Ouray county, a man who has a wide reputation for his fearlessness and marksmanship. He communicated with Secretary Carpenter, who is arranging the details of President Taft's visit and upon receiving a favorable reply, a circular letter to his twelve brother sheriffs, calling on them to act as a "committee of safety" during the two days which the President will be a guest of this part of the state. The proposal was accepted with eager unanimity.

They will assemble here to join the presidential party on their arrival here September 23. They will accompany the president during Taft's visit in the Grand valley and will go on the special train which conveys him to Montrose. There, the thirteen men, armed to the teeth, will stand guard while the president goes through the ceremonies, incident to the opening of the tunnel. They will accompany the presidential party back to Grand Junction and as far as the Utah state line.

Sheriff McKnight has been chosen as leader of the guard and Sheriff Ed DeGuelle of Montrose county and Sheriff Charlie Mulder of Mesa county will be McKnight's two subordinates in command.

Big Fruit Shipments.

Special to The Tribune.

GRAND JUNCTION, Aug. 28.—Fruit shipments from the Grand valley have increased from fifty cars a week to a hundred and fifty cars, with the prospect that during the next week the movement will reach fifty cars a day.

This week's shipments have been notable in that the first car of apples in carload quantities, the first refrigerator car of Elbertas, the first heavy shipment of Bartlett pears and the first carload of honey have all been sent out since Monday.

Aside from shipments of early apples, which now amount to about three cars a day, the Elbertas and Bartlett divide up the field and each will continue to move heavily till the middle of next month.

The cantaloupe season is now at its height. The crop is light, but extra fine. It is all being handled from the Union station and is running about three cars daily.

Palisade is shipping 75 per cent of the Elbertas and about a third of the pears. Approximately 1500 tons of total shipments are going out from the Grand Junction station.

Late apples constitute the principal crop of fruit and the lower end of the valley and their season will last a month. Fruit is shipping about a carload of apples a day.

Manager John F. Moore of the local association is now in Omaha to oversee the distribution of the local apples, which are consigned to that point.

If next week's shipments reach the volume expected they will eclipse all records for the amount of fruit sent out at one time from so limited an area. Their money value will aggregate from $15,000 to $25,000 daily.

GRACE SNELL-COFFIN-COFFIN-WALKER-COFFIN-LAYMAN-LOVE TRIES LOVE AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 28.—Mrs. Grace Snell-Coffin-Coffin-Walker-Coffin-Layman-Love, daughter of Amos J. Snell, the former Chicago millionaire, made what may be a world's record yesterday by taking her seventh plunge in the sea of matrimony, when she contracted her second marriage with Hugh Love, a newspaper man of this city.

News of the event was received here today. Mrs. Love married her present husband in 1906. Love's first matrimonial experience was in 1884, when she married Frank H. Coffin.

Following the first marriage with Love in 1906, came his divorce in 1908. The second marriage with Love took place at Santa Ana, Cal., yesterday.

BORAH TALKS ON TARIFF QUESTION

Special to The Tribune.

BOISE, Aug. 28.—Senator Borah left Boise Thursday for north Idaho. In Spokane he gave out the following interview, which is his initial statement on the tariff modification of the recent special session, from which he returned a week ago.

"The tariff bill as it became a law was certainly not what some of us expected. It was not what we had hoped for, and it was not what we were willing to accept. If the bill proves satisfactory in its workings the people will rest content, otherwise the matter will have to be taken up again.

"My candid opinion is that the people need not expect any great revision downward in the tariff until two things happen, and these are: Greater economy in public expenditures and a change in the present tariff system. We are spending almost as much money now annually as we did during the Spanish-American war and we are placing this burden upon what we call the people.

"In the first place we should reduce our expenditure a hundred million a year, which we can do and not embarrass the government one particle. In the second place we should supplement our tariff system with the income tax and distribute the burdens of government between the consumption and wealth. Then we can enlarge the fiscal list with these articles which go into every day demand of life.

"If any one will take the present tariff and study it with a view of raising revenue sufficient to run the government, he will see how difficult it would be to make any changes beneficial to the consumers. The Democrats in the senate voted for higher duties in some instances than many Republicans did and justified their vote in the necessity for revenue.

Senator Borah would have been met at the Boise depot by brass bands and a delighted constituency had he reached his vote, as he was rated, with the La Follette-Boyer-Cummins combination of the senate.

HARRIMAN BETTER, NOW THE VERDICT

is not serious and that an operation would not hasten nor give added assurance of his ultimate recovery. The nature of his illness is not mentioned.

NOT VERY SICK

OPINION OF SCHIFF

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Jacob H. Schiff, head of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and for many years closely associated with Mr. Harriman, returned to this city from Arden this afternoon.

Regarding his interview with Mr. Harriman he said:

"I spent an hour and a half with Mr. Harriman and can say that he was in splendid spirits. He has not been justified from his recent ailment, but is otherwise looking well. In all the time we spent together Mr. Harriman talked most animatedly and gave little sign of fatigue.

"So far as I know there is absolutely no justification for the report that he is to submit to a surgical operation. When I said goodbye to Mr. Harriman he was standing on the piazza of his home. The only physician in attendance at Arden is Dr. Lyle. Mr. Harriman's family doctor."

DESERTER FROM CRUISER

ALLEGED BOLD THIEF

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 28.—Henry Francis Dougherty, mail orderly on the cruiser Colorado, a youth barely 19 years of age, is sought by the police on the charge of stealing over $2000 in cash and jewelry from his shipmates. The lad deserted last Thursday. On that day he came aboard with the mail bag, as was his custom, and went at once to a hotel instead of the post office. He took along a suit of civilian clothes to put on after discarding his uniform. Taking a room at the hotel, he changed into a suit and, cutting open the mail bag, extracted the entire contents.

He obtained twenty-four gold rings, four gold watches and a large quantity of registered mail. His total haul, it is believed, amounts to about $2000.

BOY-BANK ROBBERS ARE NOT FAVORED BUT LANDS IN JAIL

Court Holds That Despite Their Youth, They Had Full Knowledge of Crime.

Promoter of Co-Operative Colonization Scheme Alleged to Have Cheated Many.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 28.—Judge Goshey of the juvenile court today recommended the young bank robbers, Leo Nevins and Frank Smith, who stole $7000 from the Valley bank of Santa Clara at pistol point, to the jurisdiction of the justice's court at Santa Clara, and cases will take the regular course.

Testimony as to the boys' ages was taken, nor did Nevins' father, who arrived last night, have an opportunity to go on the stand.

In the opinion of Judge Goshey the boys were fully cognizant of the nature of their crime at the time they committed the act, and the circumstances did not call for any deviation from the regular criminal court procedure.

Verence Clarence Nevins, the father of young Nevins, who lives at Elma, Wash., was at one time president of the Shingle Weavers' union, Elma local, and claims that his son followed this class of work until about six months ago, when he went to Seattle and took up teachers work. He last heard from the boy about ten weeks ago, while still in Seattle, and was surprised to learn that his son had gone to California.

Regarding the other lad, Mr. Nevins stated that he had never seen or heard of him before, although his son avers that he went to school with him.
